Radio station management determined a full-time promotions coordinator individual was required. Prior to this, a part-time employee had been fulfilling a portion of the duties of this position. A full recruitment campaign was not conducted for this position due to the fact the existing part-time promotions coordinator was an individual who possessed the skills, experience and abilities needed for this position. Station management felt a recruitment campaign would not generate a more qualified promotions coordinator candidate. The individual was promoted to fulltime status on December 27, 2015.
